Brazil

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

Though different in social system, China and Brazil, both being developing countries, should support each other in their common struggle against imperialism, colonialism and hegemonism. We appreciate the just stand taken by Brazil with the majority of countries at a number of recent international conferences, and firmly support Brazil's efforts and struggle against superpower maritime hegemony and in defense of 200-mile sea rights.

The Chinese government and people have always held that the five principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual non-aggression, non-interference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit and peaceful co-existence are the correct principles guiding the handling of relations between states. This principled stand of ours has won the understanding and support of more and more countries. It is precisely on these principles that China has established diplomatic relations with over 90 countries.

Niger

Teng Hsiao-ping, Vice Premier:

Both China and Niger are developing countries belonging to the Third World. Our two peoples have gone through similar experiences in history and have always sympathized with and supported each other in their protracted struggle against imperialism and colonialism. The current visit to China by the Government Delegation of the Republic of Niger led by His Excellency Major Sido will make a beneficial contribution to enhancing the friendship and mutual understanding between the Chinese and Niger peoples and open a new page in the history of friendly relations between China and Niger. We believe that there are broad prospects for the development of friendly relations and cooperation between China and Niger, through the joint efforts of the governments and peoples of the two countries and with the five principles of peaceful coexistence as the basis.

("Peking Banquet Welcomes Niger Government Delegation Led by Vice President Sido," NCNA-English, Peking, July 18, 1974 -- SPRCP 74-31/74-76)

Joint Communique:

The government of the People's Republic of China firmly supports the just struggle carried on by the government of the Republic of Niger to safeguard national independence and state sovereignty and develop the national economy.

The government of the Republic of Niger recognizes the government of the People's Republic of China as the sole legal government representing the entire Chinese people, and Taiwan Province as an inalienable part of the territory of the People's Republic of China.

The two governments have agreed to develop friendly relations and cooperation between the two countries on the basis of the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual non-aggression, non-interference in internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful coexistence.

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

Both China and Niger belong to the Third World. The Chinese and African peoples have always encouraged and supported each other and have forged a profound militant friendship in the struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism, racism, zionism and hegemonism. With the establishment of diplomatic relations between China and Niger, we have made another new friend in Africa. We are firmly convinced that with the joint efforts of both sides and on the basis of the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual non-aggression, non-interference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit and peaceful coexistence, the friendly relations and cooperation between China and Niger are bound to grow continuously.

Romania

Chi Peng-fei, Foreign Minister:

China and Romania are both developing socialist countries. The peoples of China and Romania have always sympathized with and supported each other in the protracted revolutionary struggle and socialist construction, and in the struggle against imperialism, colonialism and hegemonism, and have cemented a profound friendship. The friendly relations between China and Romania have greatly developed since the visit to China by Comrade Ceausescu at the head of the Party and government delegation in 1971.

The friendly relations between the two Parties, two countries and two peoples of China and Romania are founded on the basis of Marxism-Leninism and proletarian internationalism and can stand any test. We will, as always, make unremitting efforts for the development of such friendly relations.

Switzerland

Chi Peng-fei, Foreign Minister:

Though the political systems of our two countries are different, we all desire to develop our bilateral relations based on the five principles of peaceful coexistence. We are attached to our own independence and sovereignty and are opposed to domination and interference by others. Switzerland is a netural country and the Swiss people have a long-standing tradition of defending national independence. China is not a superpower, nor will she ever seek to be one.

We intend to establish normal relations and develop economic, trade and cultural exchanges with various countries in the world on the basis of equality. We are willing to join our efforts with those of the other countries of the third world and unite with all the developed countries that are subject to control, threat and bullying to oppose hegemonism and power politics of the superpowers.

Li Hsien-nien, Vice Premier:

The Chinese people firmly support the solemn stand of the DRVN government and the Vietnamese people regarding the implementation of the Paris Agreement and firmly support the Vietnamese people's just struggle. We are confident that the friendship between our two Parties, two countries and two peoples will surely be consolidated and developed constantly on the basis of proletarian internationalism.

Li Hsien-nien, Vice Premier:

China and Vietnam, linked by mountains and rivers and related to each other like lips to teeth, are close and fraternal socialist neighbors. The people of our two countries have always supported, helped, and encouraged each other and advanced shoulder to shoulder whether in the arduous years of war or in the period of building socialism. The great friendship and militant solidarity between our two peoples, which were fostered by the Chinese people's great leader Chairman Mao and the Vietnamese people's great leader President Ho Chi Minh, are based on Marxism-Leninism and proletarian internationalism. The Chinese people are determined to follow the great leader Chairman Mao's teachings and make our own contributions to further strengthening the great friendship and militant solidarity between our two parties, two countries and two peoples.
